FOR EVERY WOMAN

HISTORICAL HOUSE AFFORDS PLEASURE

To Many New Members of Puzzle Circle.

If you have not found the Historical House, located for your pleasure last Sunday, the time that remains to you in which to hunt them up is indeed short for the contest ends to-day at 12 o'clock.

I can well believe that few remain who have not sent me a solution of the clever little puzzle, judging from the hundreds that have poured in to me since Monday morning, among which are many new names.

Some Just Found Puzzles.

It seems that only this week have scores of Washington women found out just what was going on in The Herald's Page for Every Woman, but to find out about the fun we have with the puzzles was but to enter the circle of contestants for prizes.

I wish there was a prize for every one of you who have worked so faithfully, whether you have succeeded in entirely untangling the loop or not, but you know what Shakespeare said about wishes.

Prizes to Be Doubled.

Any way, you will have the chance to win double the prizes offered for the puzzle in the new contest, which begins on Sunday, and which will extend over two weeks in order to give everybody a chance to win one of the three cash prizes to be offered for the three best answers to a single question.

It is bound to be even more interesting than the puzzle because the questions are about something every human being has surely had at some period during life.

So it will be just no trouble at all to answer the question of the next contest. Of course, I know that such a statement will bring me many inquiries as soon as my talk to the puzzle circle this morning has been read, for it is always the case that when one contest closes, contestants turn their thoughts immediately to the subject of what is to come next.

TO-MORROW'S MENU;
HOW TO PREPARE IT

Breakfast. Fruit. Sugar and Cream. Cereal. Potatoes au Gratin. Omelet. Toast. Bread. Coffee.

Lunch. Macaroni and Cheese. Hot Cross Buns. Chocolate. Ice Cream. Clam Bouillon. Baked Potatoes. Broiled Shad. Asparagus. Dressed Cucumbers. Cheese. Water. Oceanic Pudding. Coffee.

Tea. Bread—A well-shaped round loaf, not so difficult to make. Take from the dough the usual amount and divide it in four equal parts. With slightly greased hands roll out three of the pieces until about an inch and a half thick in the center, half as thick at the ends, and fully three times as long as the finished loaf. Begin with the center of each roll and braid loosely to one end, carefully turn the braid upside down, then begin at the center and braid to the other end. Divide the fourth part into three pieces, roll out and braid in the same way as the larger ones; place on the top of the first braid and brush all over with milk. Let stand until light before baking.

Hot Cross Buns—Mix together two pounds of flour, one-half pound of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of mixed spices, and one pound of currants. Make a soft dough with a little water, and knead it until it is smooth and elastic. Roll out on a floured surface and cut into small rounds. Bake in a quick oven from fifteen to twenty minutes. This amount of material is sufficient for two dozen buns.

To Lyonnaise Potatoes.

To Lyonnaise potatoes as a colored cook does it, fry a small amount in a liberal quantity of butter until it is a low two rounding table-spoonsful for three good-sized potatoes. Then put in the cold, boiled potatoes cut in thin slices and season with salt and pepper. Toss the potatoes about until they are thoroughly mixed with the butter and onion and add a tablespoonful or two of beef extract. When the potatoes are browned on the under side fold them like an omelet and serve.

Stuffed Eggs. Tartare.

Cook six or eight eggs until hard, cool and remove shells. Cut a small slice from the top of each and remove the yolk without breaking the white. Mix the yolks with a tartare sauce and fill the whites with the mixture. Bake in a moderate oven for ten minutes. Serve on a bed of lettuce.

For an appetizing little supper dish cover the bottom of a baking dish with stewed and strained tomatoes and over them drop poached eggs. Put a slice of cooked sausage or tiny sausages in the spaces between the eggs, bits of butter on the eggs and heat thoroughly in the oven.

Radish and Carrot Salad.

Housekeeper—Peel the long radishes and cut them in slices no bigger than a match; place a nest of these on a bed of lettuce, place two or three carrot eggs in each nest and pour over all a cream mayonnaise. The carrots should be scraped, then steamed and salted while steaming. When cold cut them into balls with a large-sized potato-ball cutter and with a sharp knife trim them to resemble eggs. Serve with these slices of cream cheese mixed with an snappy yellow cheese in yellow rings. These are made by pressing the cheese, after the two kinds are blended, into the empty skins of the very smallest oranges, lemons or mandarins and then chilling them. When ready to serve cut in thin slices and lay them in a circle on a pretty plate. Small, unsweetened wafers may also be served.

Herald Theater Party.

Inquirer—The programme for The Herald's Easter party to the dependent and crippled children of Washington begins at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning at the Columbia Theater. All children are requested to be at the Columbia at a quarter to 10.
